

UNIVERSITY CITY AFTER FIVE

Whenever Wednesday

Institute of Contemporary Art

118 S. 36th Street, 215-898-7108

On any given Wednesday evening you can be sure to find a free lecture, film, conversation or reading taking place at the acclaimed Institute of Contemporary Art. Whenever Wednesdays are a series of public programs that complement the exhibitions on view and invite the public to share in the experience, interpretation and understanding of the work of established and emerging artists.

The Bridge: Cinema de Lux

4012 Walnut Street, 215-386-3300

University City's state-of-the-art movie theater blends entertainment and technology. The Bridge features wall-to-wall screens, Dolby DIGITAL EX Surround Sound®, stadium seating, and a media room with six plasma screens creating a visual multi-media art gallery, featuring award winning short subjects, behind the scenes look at popular films and anticipated movie trailers.

University City Knows Beer

We also know where to find the best happy hours and best spots to watch the game! Fiume (229 S. 45th Street), Dock Street (701 S. 50th Street) and the White Dog Café (3420 Sansom Street) made the cut on Philadelphia Weekly's "Philly's Top 50 Bars" list. But, the diverse University City beer scene only begins there! The neighborhood features serious local brews and craft beers, such as those at Local 44 (4333 Spruce Street), plenty of flat screen

TVs to watch the big game on (visit The Blockley Pourhouse, 3801 Chestnut Street), and unique happy hour spots such as Slaínte Pub & Grill (3000 Market Street), Mikey's American Grill and Sports Bar (3180 Chestnut Street), Distrito's "Cantina" (3945 Chestnut Street) and Landmark Americana Tap & Grill (3333 Market Street).

MarBar

200 South 40th Street, 215-222-0100

Chic and sophisticated, urban and chill—the newly renovated MarBar is the place to go in University City for live music, guest DJ's and an overall really good time. Recently partnering with LiveNation, MarBar has been booking Philadelphia's hottest names in music, drawing in an eclectic mix of students and local music aficionados. Sitting atop Philadelphia's famous Marathon, the same great food and service translates upstairs.

University City Rocks!

University City is home to a number of venues in which live music thrives. World Cafe Live (3025 Walnut Street) features national and local adult contemporary acts on two stages nearly every night. Millcreek Tavern (4200 Chester Avenue) hosts touring and local rock bands nightly. The cozy Green Line Café (45th and Locust) programs an eclectic mix of unique acts and artists. And, the International House (3701 Chestnut Street) and Annenberg Center for Performing Arts (3680 Walnut Street) present the best in jazz and world music.

AFTER FIVE IN UNIVERSITY CITY

At night, University City is animated by a dynamic mix of students, neighbors and visitors. It's a lively place to sip cocktails and drink the best in craft beers, to hear live music, or to simply explore. Whether you're experiencing contemporary art or the performing arts, reading your favorite book at a cozy café or enjoying international cuisine at an intimate BYOB, you are always guaranteed a great time. We hope you'll explore University City and continually discover what makes this neighborhood so unique.
